

METRIC INSIGHTS

Big Data without the Big Wait.

Metric Insights adds context and meaning to the raw power of Big Data enabling business users – not just data scientists – to extract insights from their data thereby extending adoption and business value across the whole organization. Results are instantaneously available and delivered to users based on their individual preferences.

Metric Insights solves two important problems. First, Big Data analytics typically requires long waiting times that are unacceptable to most users. With Metric Insights' intelligent caching architecture, users access pre-rendered analytics instantly, without the wait. Second, most Big Data analytics are accessible only to Data Scientists and BI professionals with expert knowledge. Metric Insights delivers a true self-service architecture that puts Big Data in the hands of more users enabling better, faster decision-making across the organization. Unlike other solutions that require analysts to spend large quantities of time on mundane tasks, with Metric Insights analysts can deploy new reports in minutes and spend more time focusing on high-value complex analysis.
